Labor Day Festival Has New Features And Old Favorites; Craft Show, Games

by Leta Mach

Although there will be some changes at the 28th annual Labor Day Festival this weekend, the theme, "Unity through Community Involvement," remains the same. This year, the location of the Carnival has been moved to the upper parking lot beside the Municipal Building. Also new this year are craft booths in the Carnival. Illustrating the theme, numerous individuals and organizations throughout Greenbelt have arranged one last summer fling for the Labor Day weekend.

Opening ceremonies are at 7 p.m. Friday, September 3 and feature a concert by the Greenbelt Concert Band, the introduction of city officials and the Festival Committee, the announcement of Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizen of 1982 and a drawing for free ride tickets. Other events of the first day include athletic contests, the presentation of Miss Greenbelt contestants and a street dance to the music of Straight Escape. The fun continues through

Stage Events

Many outstanding and well-known acts will appear on the Festival stage. Clowns From All Over, a group that will be ap-

Favorites from past years—Iris Hirsch, the Guys and Dolls Cloggers, Ralph Case Squaredancers, Grim Pickers, Port Authority—will be back again. Local Greenbelt talent will be well represented on the Festival Stage. Janet Bailey will do a musical variety act with sign language. Straight Escape, a rock and roll band, also features Greenbelters: Tim Bram, John Hoehn, Arnold Wilson and Joe Rooney.

Another new activity for the Carnival area is a live remote broadcast by a radio station. WLMD from Laurel will do the live remote from 3-7 p.m. on Saturday. The station will be conducting interviews and giving away prizes and t-shirts.

County Council Candidates Express Views

by Barbara Likowski

Candidates for County Council representative of the newly formed councilmanic district took part in a Candidates Night sponsored by the Citizens for Greenbelt (CFG) on Wednesday, August 18 in the Greenbelt Library. Four Democratic candidates and one Republican parried questions from an audience of between 50-60 people.

Chaired by CFG member Barry Schlesinger, the meeting began with each candidate being given five minutes to make an opening statement and answer two questions: (1) how each felt about zoning, how he would like to see the county develop, and what role public transportation should play and (2) what he would do about crime and how his solution would be funded.

Speaking first was Republican Kenneth Powell, who proposed planning so "we can have something in 20 years" so that the county would still be a "pretty place." Development and planning, he said, were the most important things and both were necessary so there wouldn't be waste. "Crime costs money," he said. "Stop giving people an opportunity to take advantage of us." He recommended neighborhoods getting together to help one another and having police officers teach people how to keep things safe.

Richard Castaldi maintained that as a lifelong county resident and with his background in planning, he knows the area for development, knows the processes and can help resolve the problems. After 10 years on the Council of Governments (COG), he will bring his expertise to benefit Prince Georges County. He is for quality development. Castaldi feels that the county needs a good strong school system and good roads. "We're on the right track and going in the right direction," he said. Castaldi advocates working together with METRO, saying that when development occurs, Metro will follow. Castaldi feels that it is important that citizens have an image of the county as being a safe place and that it should be made so.

Roy Dabney, who was appointed to the council until the election, advocates making a wide range of housing available and attracting light industry to the county to provide jobs. He would form an effective neighborhood crime watch and also use crime solvers to help combat crime. Dabney is a member of the Economic Development Commission and the Chamber of Commerce.

Al Golato, who presently represents the Bowie area on the county school board, said that it is not difficult to identify the issues but difficult to solve them. Zoning, he said, "for 20 years has disturbed me." He can understand the image of the county as a dumping ground that is perceived by the Washington Post and others, although he doesn't like it. He had the audience visualize how different Montgomery and Prince Georges counties looked. He said he would like to do away with some of the cinder block buildings. The fourth district has massive development planned for it, he said. He doesn't think some of his opponents can change the process when they are part of it.

On the other hand, Bill Wildman, former mayor of Bowie, would encourage diverse development. Although he ruled out smokestacks, he feels there is a place for a mixture of assembly line and high science technology industries. He felt cinderblock buildings were needed for what goes into them — industries to provide jobs for county residents. Transportation, he added, was not going to take care of itself but would have to be planned for. With the help of maps which he had placed on the wall, he pointed out where green space had been preserved in the county, and said he hoped to retain that green space. "Somebody planned well," he affirmed; "now let's implement the plan."

Audience Questions

Following these opening statements, candidates answered questions from the audience.

"Isn't TRIM + 4 really an attempt to kill TRIM? If it passes in November, will it mean a tax increase for everyone?"

Dabney: TRIM + 4 is a 4% escalator tax. It would permit council to tax new developments. Golato - It only gives council the option to increase taxes by 4%, it doesn't mandate it to do so. Wildman - supports the amendment. Yes, there will be a slight

Primary Only 2 Weeks Away

by Elaine Skolnik

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love" — but in the fall politics dominates. Fall is almost here, as are the primary contestants to determine who shall be the party standardbearers in the November election.

Primary Day 1982 is Tuesday, September 14. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at Greenbelt's four polling places—Center School (third precinct); St. Hugh's School (sixth precinct); Springhill Lake School (eighth precinct); and Eleanor Roosevelt High School (thirteenth precinct). The latter also includes registered voters who live in Chelsea Woods, Brae Brook Village, Goddard Space Village and Hunting Ridge. Registered in the four precincts are 7,666 persons, down 19% from the 1978 total of 9,461. Democrats number 6,294, down 20.6% from 1978; Republicans, 1,918, a decrease of 11%. Those declining party affiliation number 966, down 22.6%.

Only Democrats and Republicans may vote in their respective primary elections. Those who decline to declare a party affiliation may vote only in nonpartisan elections, such as in an election for a member of the Board of Education. Because incumbent Lesley Kreimer of Greenbelt faces no opposition in her bid to be returned to the Board of Education, Greenbelt's "declines" will not have an opportunity to vote on September 14.

In the Republican primary, there is no competition for nomination as candidates for the Maryland State Senate, House of Delegates, County Council, Clerk of the Circuit Court and Sheriff. Among Democrats there is no competition for the Maryland State Senate slot, and incumbents State Comptroller Louis A. Goldstein and Attorney General Stephen Sachs have no opposition.

Usually fewer contests bring out a lower turnout of voters. This is not expected to be true in Greenbelt, because by far the most spirited contest in either primary is for the Democratic nomination for this district's seat on County Council. Greenbelt's Mayor Richard Castaldi is competing with three citizens of Bowie for the honor. His rivals are incumbent County Councilman Roy Dabney, retiring Board of Education member A. James Golato and former Bowie Mayor William W. Wildman.

Other Greenbelters on the ballot are Councilman Thomas X. White, incumbent Jeanette Gordy and Patrick Needham, all vying for places on the Democratic Central Committee. White and Gordy are running on the Democratic Alliance slate. Other Democrats on this slate from the 23rd Legislative District are Leo Green for State Senate (no primary opponent), incumbent House of Delegates Members Gerard F. Devlin and Charles "Buzz" Ryan running for re-election, and at-large Central Committee candidate Joanne L. O'Brien. Also seeking the delegate seats are incumbent Joan Pitkin and James W. Hubbard.

County Executive

For Republicans, the county executive race could be a horse-race. Pitted against each other are Ann Shoch, member of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission, and William Goodman, architect of TRIM charter amendment and former Democratic state delegate and educator, who changed his party affiliation several months ago.

On the Democratic side, the county executive contest is bland, with county councilman Paris Glendening in competition with A. Lee Ball, perennial candidate and former Greenbelt, Arthur B. Haynes and Kenneth W. Cutlip.

Democrats and Republicans will also select party candidates for United States Congress and Senate, for Governor and for court-house offices.

Kaleidoscope

It depicts an ever changing variety of musical styles, so they decided to call it KALEIDOSCOPE. Greenbelt's Art Center is presenting an array of talented singers, dancers, and musicians in an evening of entertainment for three weekends beginning Friday, September 10 at 8:15 p.m. through Sunday, September 26 at 2:30 p.m.

Sally Hershey, musical director and Cliff Smith, director, have included everything from folk and country and western to modern ballads and show tunes. Included in the cast of talented performers are: Helene Davis, Michelle Marie Rios, Evelyn Seraille, Lisa Green, Trix Whitehall, Rita Criggar, Betty Xander, Porter Koontz, Kenneth Jackson, Rob Richards and Paul Noga.

On Friday, September 17, the Rainbow Musical Troupe will perform at the Utopia. The Rainbow troupe consists of a group of teenage performers under the direction of Jerry Payne.

For further information, call 346-4487 or 474-7763 during evening hours.

Greenbelt AL Post Opens For Police, Fire Display

Greenbelt's American Legion Post 136 is opening its doors to the public on Saturday, September 11, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., to see police and firefighters in action. There will be displays on drug abuse, radar, security, and fire protection, and demonstrations with K9 dogs. Members of the Greenbelt police and fire departments will answer questions. A police helicopter will be there from 1 to 2 p.m. unless an emergency develops elsewhere. Food and beverages will be on sale.

There will be an awards banquet starting at 6:30 p.m. during which the Legion will recognize Greenbelt's police officer, firefighter, and school patrol member of 1981-82. Tickets can be purchased at the Post.

McEVoy GOP CHAIRMAN

The Republican Central Committee for Prince Georges County has appointed Hugh G. McEvoy as Chairman of the North End Precinct (21-6), to replace John Churchill, who has resigned for personal reasons.

Republicans in the six Greenbelt area precincts who wish information on candidates or to volunteer their services in the primary campaign should call Eunice E. Coxon, Republican Area Chairman, 345-2756.

REFUSE COLLECTION

Because of the Labor Day Holiday, there will be no refuse collection on Monday, September 6. Monday's pickup will be made on Tuesday and Tuesday's pickup will be on Wednesday. There will be NO PAPER PICK UP. Regular refuse schedules will be followed on Thursday and Friday.

Edna V. White

Edna V. White, long time Greenbelt resident, died at age 60, August 25, at Doctors Hospital, Lanham. The cause of death was pericarditis, a vascular disorder. Memorial services will be held tonight, Thursday, Sept. 2, at 8 p.m. at the Berwyn United Presbyterian Church, Greenbelt Road.

Survivors include her husband, Francis W. White, son Robert, and daughters Linda and Sandra and granddaughter, Jennifer.

IN MEMORIAM

Edna White was my very dear friend for 34 years. Together we shared many joys and sorrows. Her loyalty to her God, family, and many friends will long be remembered. Her strength of character, keen sense of humor, and desire and skill to beautify her surroundings was outstanding. Over the years she has given so much of herself, and Greenbelt and Prince Georges County have again lost one of our finest citizens. The Labor Day weekends will be sadly lacking, as she has opened the festivities for many years by singing our National Anthem. In heaven the "Choirs of Angels" will surely sound even sweeter as she lifts her magnificent voice in harmony. Thank God for Edna—she will be sorely missed. May she eternally rest in peace.

— Mrs. Jeff Chapman

Edna was a dear friend for nearly twenty years. She was talented, attractive, caring, fun-loving and blessed with a great sense of humor. She had a wonderful inner strength, which served her well in times of stress—and inspired me often. Her greatest attributes, however, were her devotion to and love for her family, friends and community. Edna was a long time member and tireless worker of the Greenbelt Lion Belles. She served on the board of directors of the Prince Georges Civic Opera, was a soloist for the Presbyterian Church, sang the National Anthem annually at the opening ceremonies of the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival, and served on the staff of the late Maryland State Senator Edward T. Conroy in 1979 and 1980.

—Elizabeth Maffay

Edna White touched her friends in a deeply personal way. We loved her for her gaiety, beauty and kindness and respected her for her strength, courage and loyalty. We will all miss this gracious lady.

RICHARD CASTALDI DEMOCRAT FOR COUNTY COUNCIL

HE CAN MAKE THE DIFFERENCE:

A direct Greenbelt voice on the County Council will not only be of great benefit to the people of our city, but Richard Castaldi's expertise and experience in planning will benefit every person in the Fourth District and in the entire County.

Albert K. Herling

We would like Greenbelt to be represented by one of its own — one we would be proud of in experience, education, knowledge and integrity — Richard Castaldi meets these requirements.

Evelyn and Walsh Barcus

Richard Castaldi offers a unique blend of experience, vigor, and dedication to the community for Greenbelt and Prince Georges County, his presence on County Council will be a refreshing change from politics as usual.

Robert C. Zugby

Richard Castaldi will bring to the County Council his experience in planning and his sensitivity to people's needs that would be a boon to all.

Gene Sparks

Greenbelt needs an experienced, effective, representative to the County Council who will fight for those priorities that improve the quality of life in Greenbelt and all of Prince Georges County. Rich Castaldi has demonstrated his support for education and other youth programs, recreation and other service programs that improve the quality of life. Greenbelt needs adequately funded schools, and appropriate zoning. Richard Castaldi can and will make sure that these priorities are met.

Lesley Kreimer

In serving with him on the City Council, I saw Richard Castaldi mature to the point that he is now able, in reaching a conclusion, to give thoughtful, dispassionate consideration to all elements of a problem and to widely varying points of view. His election would give the city and the district an able representative on the County Council.

Charles F. Schwan

For the Fourth Councilmanic District, the critical issues are transportation, rational development and overall quality of life. On the Greenbelt City Council, Richard Castaldi has clearly demonstrated that he has the knowledge, the experience, and the commitment to provide the best representation for the Fourth District citizens on the new County Council.

Thomas X. White

I'm backing Richard Castaldi because he has shown that he cares for and is concerned about the senior citizens.

Rehab Issues Dominate August 12 GHI Board Meeting

by Mary Moien

In a session that lasted past midnight, the August 12 meeting of the Board of Directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) tackled rehab concerns and miscellaneous items. Most of the meeting concerned rehab-related complaints from members as well as requests for exemptions from rehab policies.

Several members were present to voice displeasure with various aspects of rehab. One new member felt that he was being discriminated against by having to pay in his monthly charges for heat that he had never used. Although the board was sympathetic, board member Janet Cantwell summed up their feelings that the new resident had purchased a membership and that the unit he resided in had received the heat, which had to be paid for.

Another member questioned how many copies of house keys had been made and who had access to them. GHI manager Tim Mitter responded that a copy of all house keys had been made for GHIDC. The Audit Committee has approved the methods used for securing keys. Several members complained of workmen having entered their houses without notification.

A petition signed by a number of GHI residents questioned the method for providing heat rebates to members as rehab progresses. In addition, they questioned whether the rebates were equitable to all members. Board member Donald Volk stated that the system tried to be both simple and fair. Board member Margaret Hogensen agreed but said that the number signing the petition indicates that many members must not understand the oil charges or the rebate methods. She recommended that the board consider sending a letter to members or holding a meeting to explain the method for calculating the rebate checks.

Heat Exemptions

The board discussed two requests for heat exemptions. The first involved the home of board member Mark Dombrowski. He had requested to be allowed to retain the radiators in his home and to install hydronic heat system. In addition, he indicated that he and his wife maintain their house in a historical manner. The board discussed the difficulty of maintaining the unit indefinitely at the historic level.

After considerable debate, the board voted to approve the exemption without requiring the Dombrowskis to maintain the unit as an historic structure. Board member Frank Gervasi summed up the proponents' point of view by stating that changes should be allowed that members are willing to maintain themselves and changes which don't negatively affect other members. For the opposition, board member Joe Jenkins stated that "we have a member-approved rehabilitation plan" and that the Dombrowskis were aware of rehab when they purchased their home last year.

The second request for a heat exemption was by member Ben Abramowitz, who sought to install a cast-iron oil-fired boiler. After limited discussion regarding the safety of the system and whether there would be any insurance problems, this request was also approved. In both instances. Jenkins, Lewis, and Smith cast the only opposing votes. Dombrowski was required to abstain from voting on his own request.

Other items

Several committee reports were presented. The Member and Community Relations Committee presented an update on plans for the GHI Labor Day booth and parade float. The Finance Committee sought board approval for a letter seeking proposals for auditing services from accounting/management firms. The Ad Hoc Committee on Historic Preservation made a preliminary report recommending the formation of a community-wide, tax exempt, non-profit foundation to pursue the preservation of GHI units.

Council Again Delays Action On Lake Park Name Dilemma

by Virginia Beauchamp

Two self-confessed "trouble makers" spoke out eloquently at a special city council meeting on August 25 on different sides of a controversy over what to call the Greenbelt Lake and the Lake Park. Al Herling addressed council as the citizen who had first conceived the idea of honoring President Franklin D. Roosevelt by naming for him "something of significance" in Greenbelt. Councilman Richard Pilski, on the other hand, summarizing his views after all citizen comments had been heard, held to the view he had introduced at an earlier council meeting — that the park should be renamed in honor of the late Director of Public Works, the beloved Buddy Attick.

For the rest of council, for the Roosevelt Commemoration Committee, and for many of the interested citizens who turned out to express their views, the dilemma posed by the obvious merit of both proposals was painful. Mayor Richard Castaldi called the situation "traumatic" and Betty Allen, chair of the commemoration committee, apologized for the "hassle" to which their group's suggestion had given rise. At the end of the meeting the dilemma was still unresolved, as the four members of council present deferred a decision till their absent colleague, Tom White, could also join in the process. (White was unable to attend because of a job commitment.)

Although an interim work session on the issue was to be scheduled, the Monday night decision not to decide puts off until September 20 the date when the question can be officially resolved.

An obviously agonized Betty Allen noted the short lead time that would allow for completing plans for the FDR commemoration weekend, already scheduled for October 1-3.

By evening's end the mayor and councilmen Ed Putens and Gil Weidenfeld admitted to leaning toward the compromise of naming the lake for the late President and naming the surrounding park for Buddy Attick. The compromise accords with the recommendation of the Community Relations Advisory Board.

Other Suggestions

Citizen testimony, however, introduced more options than those incorporated in previous reports from the city's three advisory boards. (The Advisory Planning Board had recommended naming the park for Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt and formally adopting the name of Greenbelt Lake. The Park and Recreation Advisory Board, on the other hand, opposed changing the name of any existing named facility.)

Strong support was expressed by some of those present for naming the new ballfield on Northway extended (the old landfill site) for Attick. Another option, Rose Remenick suggested, would be to name the lake peninsula—"a lovely area"—for Attick. Henry Thurston, retired long-time city employee, favored naming one of the streets—Southway or Crescent—for either Attick or Roosevelt. Joe Remenick, on the other hand, thought the original portion of the Municipal Building could be named for Attick.

Throughout the meeting, Weidenfeld had a running question which he put to each speaker in turn. "What would your opinion be about renaming the Center mall Roosevelt Square?" While some appeared to accept that option, most seemed happier with "The Center."

Only Bill Hennessey got a different question. He had spoken strongly about honoring local figures—mentioning among others Attick, former city manager Charles McDonald, and former mayors Tom Canning, Pilski and Weidenfeld and present mayor Castaldi. Weidenfeld drew a laugh when he asked Hennessey, "What would you say about renaming the Center Weidenfeld Square?"

Pilski summed up the feelings of the crowd and of the council in this true dilemma. "Both were great men — one on a national scale and one on a local scale. ... They touched the hearts of a lot of people and they made history for over 40 years."

"Unity Through Community Involvement," the theme of the Labor Day Festival, describes a weekend when all Greenbelters can come together, both in volunteer work and for entertainment. Founded twenty-eight years ago, the Festival has traditionally given Greenbelt organizations an opportunity to earn money and show off their activities. The Festival is a non-profit organization directed by a Steering Committee elected yearly. It receives its operating expenses from donations of local businessmen and from a percentage of the profits from booths and carnival rides. All Greenbelt residents and organizations are invited to participate in the planning and activities of the Festival.

City Officials Educate State Representative on Road Sites

by Arthur Donn

The revamping of the intersection at Kenilworth Avenue (Md. 201) and Greenbelt Road (Md. 193) is the major state highway improvement to be undertaken in Greenbelt in the next five years. At that site, 201 will be made to pass under 193, reducing traffic congestion and eliminating intersection accidents.

The work is included with other projects that were shown in a special tour of highway sites needing improvement that was conducted July 1 by Mayor Richard Castaldi, the city councilmen, and City Manager James Giese, for Maryland Transportation Secretary Lowell K. Bridwell and state delegates Gerard Devlin, Joan Pitkin and Charles Ryan. County Councilman Roy Dabney, Jr. and Leo Green, candidate for state senator, were also present.

The city hopes for state funding for all the projects. The tour was designed to show need for the work and to gain approval for the funding.

The state has set aside money for the work at the 201-193 intersection. However, the work itself is not scheduled to begin for several years. The city wants to be sure the project is not further deferred.

The city also seeks funding for direct access to the Greenbelt Metro station-to-be from the Beltway from the west, and for extending Cherrywood over the Beltway to Kenilworth Avenue, to provide access to the station from the east.

Another proposal to the state is for installation of a traffic light at the intersection of Greenbelt and Mandan Roads. The state recently completed a study that concluded a light there is not warranted. Residents, however, feel the intersection is dangerous because of restricted vision and the high speed of vehicles on Greenbelt Road.

The widening of Greenbelt Road from Hanover Parkway to the Beltway overpass, building a pedestrian walkway along the Greenbelt Road bridge over the Baltimore-Washington Parkway, and extending the bicycle path along Greenbelt Road from Lakecrest Drive to Greenway Center are all included as one proposal.

The last two project-proposals involve paving. Greenbelt Road, between Kenilworth Avenue and the B&O Railroad bridge, needs to be repaved as the road has become uneven and bumpy from heavy traffic. Last, the city seeks to have a section of the Beltway covered with a new asphalt surface to reduce road noise. The present noise has an adverse effect in many Greenbelt neighbor-

Greenbelt FOP Endorses Gerry Devlin, Tom White

James Craze, President of the Greenbelt Fraternal Order of Police, announced the FOP's endorsement of Gerry Devlin for re-election to the Maryland House of Delegates, 23rd District and Greenbelt City Councilman Thomas White for a position on the Democratic Central Committee.

"Delegate Devlin's record speaks for itself. Over the years he has shown consistent support for both the Law Enforcement Community and the citizens of the 23rd District. His experience and knowledge make him invaluable in Annapolis."

"Thomas White's foresight into the problems facing both Greenbelt and Prince Georges County will make him a definite asset to the Democratic Central Committee."

Muscular Dystrophy

This year the Greenbelt Jaycees again have taken the challenge to help raise funds for Muscular Dystrophy. On August 4, Gov. Harry Hughes proclaimed August as Jaycee and Jaycee Women Muscular Dystrophy Month. The Maryland Jaycees have made a commitment to raise $60,000 for MDA.

Through the help of Beltway Plaza, Greenway Shopping Center and the Greenbelt Shopping Center, the Greenbelt Jaycees have been able to do their part in raising the MDA Funds.

The county council hasn't been planning. "TRIM works but the county council doesn't."

"How would you have voted in cutting the school budget?"

Powell - the amount spent per pupil is going up, also the county has been forced to keep the older teachers, many earning $25,000. There needs to be an audit. Golato - as a participating school board member helped cut the budget to the "bone and marrow." Is a fiscal conservative but does not believe it can be cut anymore. He would cut things, not people.

Golato pointed out that the county school system had the lowest administrative staff and cost in the D.C. area. It has been audited by the county council, Price Waterhouse, federal and state governments. There are other ways to raise tax revenues besides real estate taxes. Wildman - advocates an audit of expenditures and a closer look at administrative costs. Castaldi - would cut administrative costs. Dabney - there was no excess money. The council would have had to wipe out the police system if it completely funded the school budget. Need to raise real estate tax.

"Will your first priority be solving of the school problem?"

Wildman - "the school board giveth and the county council taketh away." This can be corrected by having an independent school board and letting them fund themselves. Castaldi - the most valuable resource is our children. If we don't educate them, we'll pay for it in the long run through police, institutions, social services, etc. Dabney - take politics out of it and let the school board fund itself. Does not agree with Wildman - the saying should be, "the school board giveth, the county executive taketh away and the county council tried to give as much back as possible." Rebuttal: Golato - education attracts people to the county. It is also the best investment against crime. Police are needed to protect that investment; shouldn't pit one against the other. He said he had been proposing autonomy for 13 years but the state representatives won't do anything about it. Powell - disagrees with the others. The county council makes the final decision and he would like to be on the council to give the school board money. Supports teachers - should keep them in the classroom and not promote to principals.

"What are you going to do about the county jail which was built for 180 and now houses over 400?"

Dabney - the question is on the ballot this year. A new jail is to be built in an area that already has a county garage and a landfill. Council presented three other places to the judge but the attorney for the inmates maintained that these sites were not big enough and the judge threw them out. Castaldi - going to have to build the jail, want to make sure the area is well planned and can be improved and protected. For too long the courts have controlled the destiny of Prince Georges County, he said. "We have to take control of our own destiny." Wildman - it's appalling that P.G. county has to be told by a judge how and what to do. The county council could have funded it but didn't. Golato - the county is so backward in its treatment of prisoners, so near the nation's capitol. Will people near it (the proposed site) vote for it? It could go down the tube. Powell - nobody wants a jail in his backyard, would rather have Greenbelt Park. But would rather have a jail in the backyard than a criminal in the front yard. We shouldn't wait for a judge to tell us to build it. All agreed they would campaign for a bond issue to build the new prison.

"Where are you going to get money to pay for things?" (since council is limited by TRIM).

Wildman - beer tax, electronic game tax, for example. Dabney - don't know what revenues we'll have. No candidate can promise beforehand. Powell - stop playing with the budget. Golato -

TRIM + 4 and tax increment funding. Castaldi - TRIM + 4 (if the voters approve it), tax on new development and an amusement tax.

"Do you favor giving Abe Pollin a tax break at the Capitol Center?"

Powell - "Pollin got a tax break 10 years ago when he built on my land. We need a good school system more than an underdressed hockey team." Castaldi - No. Might set a precedent - don't know what the ramifications would be. Wildman - wondered if council had asked to see the corporate records. Pollin did get a tax break in the form of land, sewer, water, etc. but the county did get something back. Golato - oppose. "Improve the product and sales will improve." Also opposes the tobacco barn exemption. Dabney - the area lost three teams and can't afford to lose a fourth and also the taxes associated with it, amusement, retail, etc. "Yes, I would vote for it." Don't want to see people out of jobs. Rebuttal - Golato - If lose the team, it doesn't mean the place would close; there are other groups wanting to use the center. Wildman - "We don't give other people a tax break when they are going bankrupt."

"Is the plan for relocation of population in the event of nuclear war viable?"

Powell - nuclear war is survivable. Also need places to use when other catastrophes hit (such as Hurricane Agnes). The others were not in favor of building a center. When Powell was reminded that the money for this center was not going to be a gift but would have to be matched by the county, he still favored building it.

"We Make Moving A Pleasant Experience"
Kretschmer Moving Co.

theme, "That's Entertainment." A fashion show will be presented on Sunday afternoon. The climax of the Pageant is the crowning of the new Miss Greenbelt on Sunday evening.

Highlights
Artists of all ages will display an endless variety of works in the Annual Art Show at the Municipal Building. Art Show awards on Saturday evening will include an award for the work best demonstrating the theme "Americans at Work." An award will also be given to the "Community Favorite" which receives the most votes from people visiting the Art Show.

Many events are especially for children. Children are encouraged to spruce up their pets for the Saturday morning Pet Show. All kinds of pets—big, little, feathered, furry, ugly, handsome—are invited. Dogs must have proof of rabies shots and be leashed. There will be prizes for the best costumed, the funniest, largest, smallest, most talented, prettiest, ugliest and other categories of pets. Saturday afternoon children are invited to enter the Special Contests. Parents and adults are also invited to enter some events. The Recreation Department is again sponsoring the Big Wheels Roadcross for children on Friday afternoon.

Throughout the weekend the Recreation Department has lined up a series of athletic events. These contests include table tournaments softball tournaments, a golf tournament, a swim meet, horseshoe tournaments and foot races.

Salute to Workers
The whole purpose of Labor Day is to honor workers and the Festival has not forgotten this purpose. To commemorate workers, the annual Salute to Americans at Work will be held Monday afternoon. At least twelve organizations and individuals have volunteered to demonstrate trades and crafts at the Center Mall. The Festival Committee also hopes to sponsor a short Restaurant Workers Race through the Carnival grounds ending at the Salute to Workers exhibit.

Parade
One of the largest Greenbelt Parades will be held on Monday morning. So many people are marching in the Parade that the chairpersons are concerned that there may be too few people left to watch the Parade. Thirty-two Greenbelt civic groups are marching in the parade, and this does not include the invited dignitaries. The parade will also include seven majorette groups: Cheverly Majorettes, Color Guard, and Drum Corps; K Company; Chilum-Adelphi Cavaliers; Marlboro Majorette and Drum Corps; Cheverly Troopadors; Riverdale Youth Group; and Berwyn Heights Bravados. Military units include the First U.S. Army Band, Maryland National Guard, Greenbelt Armory; The Old Guard; U.S. Naval Sea Cadet Corps, Dahlgren Division. Governor Harry Hughes will ride in the Parade in a horse-drawn 1850 Victoria Carriage donated by Coachman Limited. Numerous political candidates will also appear. Two equestrian units—the Equestrian 4-H Club and the Kettering Riding Club—will ride through the Parade, followed by Greenbelt's own pooper scoopers. Comic groups include Becky and Bozo "R" Us, College Park Moose Klown Klub, Knights of the Klown Table and the Greenbelt Kazoo Band. Anyone interested in joining the Kazoo Band can do so by calling the leader, Sharon Alfaro, at 474-8668.

The Greenbelt Lions Club is again sponsoring the decorated bikes and trikes entry for the Parade. Greenbelt children can begin decorating their entry now and meet beside Woody's Mobil gas station before the Parade.
